

Phoney Cease-Fire Line Of Communists Stalls Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea — (P)—Allied truce negotiators in strong words today accused the Communists of insisting on a phoney cease-fire line merely to stall the armistice talks.

After the subcommittees had wrangled for four hours and 15 minutes, an Allied spokesman said they were no closer to an agreement on the thorny buffer zone issue. They will meet again in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Tuesday (9 p.m. EST Monday) — their 20th session.

Major Gen. Henry L. Hodges, chairman of the two-member U.N. command subcommittee, minced no words in telling the Communists negotiators:

"You intend to establish a pre-scriptive demarcation line and demilitarized zone, which will release you of any necessity to settle the remaining items of the armistice agenda with speed and efficiency."

"You want to establish a spurious line and zone which will provide you with the leisure and freedom to continue delaying the conference."

The Reds want to fix a cease-fire line before taking up any other item on the agenda. The U.N. command insists that the line follow the war front at the time all other armistice terms are agreed upon.

Brig. Gen. William Nuckles, the official U.N. command spokesman, said the Communists hinted "pretty broadly" that after a cease-fire line was fixed, the next step would be withdrawal of all troops from the buffer zone.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. negotiator, made it clear in a statement Sunday that the Allies will accept no proposal which would make it impossible to maintain military pressure on Communist troops while the armistice talks continue.

Detroiter Goes Out To Get Cop, Dies In Gunfight

DETROIT — (P)—A man who bragged he was going to "shoot myself a cop" died today of wounds inflicted in a street corner gun battle with two policemen here last night.

He was Charles Meridith, 33, a sheet metal worker who came here a year ago from Kingston, Tenn. He was a father of four.

Officer Wounded

Meridith shot it out with Patrolmen Raleigh K. Bolio, 25, and Raymond Angeluski, 23, after he was ordered to surrender. He was hit in the abdomen by four bullets and in the arm by a fifth.

Bolio was wounded in the right foot and another bullet cut through his pants leg in the exchange of 18 shots.

The two patrolmen, suspecting Meridith was a prowler, attempted to question him in an alley, but he ran and vanished between houses. They went to a telephone call box to make their hourly report to headquarters and, as they walked away, spotted him talking to a man on the sidewalk nearby.

In Bad Mood

Carson Shahan, 36, Meridith's landlord, was the man to whom he was talking. Shahan said Meridith was drunk and he warned him to get inside before he got into trouble.

Instead, Shahan said, Meridith pulled a .45 automatic from his pocket and complained police were giving him a "bad time" and that he intended "to shoot myself a cop."

Shahan said he dropped the gun accidentally on the sidewalk, and the approaching policemen warned him "leave it alone." But Meridith grabbed it and began firing wildly.

Both officers fired, knocking Meridith down, but he kept firing. Bolio emptied his gun, he said, and Meridith was levelling on him when he yelled to Angeluski, who fired the two final shots.

"He probably saved my life," Bolio said.

Juan Peron Elected Argentine Ruler For Another Six Years

BUENOS AIRES—(P)—A sweeping majority apparently returned President Juan D. Peron to power as Argentina's ruler for another six years in an orderly, record-breaking election.

Peron had a total of 1,503,161 votes to 719,253 for Dr. Ricardo Balbin, Radical party candidate.

The pro-government press hailed Peron's victory as a vote of confidence by the people. It said his final majority will be bigger than in his first election in 1946, when he polled 55 per cent.

Radical leaders declared that women, voting for the first time in an Argentine general election, were the main instrument in the Peron victory.

The opposition claimed there had been some irregularities in the vote counting. They said that, according to their own count, at least five and possibly seven of their candidates won congressional seats in the capital, which sends 30 deputies to Congress.

The interior ministry said more than 90 per cent of the eligible voters in the capital cast ballots yesterday, despite the heaviest downpour in years.

In north central Cordoba, where the temperature soared to 104 degrees, many voters fainted by sun stroke.

Armistice Day Peace Symbol, President Says

WASHINGTON — (P)—President Truman says the United States, disappointed in the hope that the first Armistice Day would bring lasting peace, is now "determined to work for it, hard and actively, with all our resources."

"We are engaged in a great national effort to build up enough strength and economic power so we and all the peaceful nations can be secure against the threats of new aggression in the world today," the chief executive said.

Police said the man, Everett LeRoy Moir, 29-year-old Waterloo, Ia., factory worker, blamed domestic troubles for the slaying.

The woman, Mrs. Sarah Mae Moir, 29, apparently had been bludgeoned to death. A blood-stained hammer was found in the trunk of his car parked outside.

Similar expressions were voiced by other officials in Armistice Day observances throughout the nation and abroad yesterday. Still other ceremonies of tribute to the dead of World War I, and of other wars, were planned today, the legal holiday.

At traditional ceremonies at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington National cemetery, Secretary of Defense Lovett said "once more we renew our vows to our heroic dead never to give up in the struggle in which they gave their lives."

Bodyless Head Puzzles Police

NORFOLK, Va. — (P)—Police redoubled their efforts today toward solving one of the strangest cases in their memory—that of the bodyless head and the beaten and strangled widow.

Should the head turn out to be as police believe it will—that of Walter Barr, 34-year-old carpenter missing since Oct. 3, officers are sure they have a double-barreled puzzler on their hands.

The severed head was found Saturday by a small Negro boy in a patch of honeysuckle in adjacent Princess Anne county. An all-day search yesterday failed to turn up any body or parts of a human torso.

It was only about a mile away that fishermen on Oct. 6 discovered the beaten and strangled body of Mrs. Mamie Smithwick, 57-year-old widow of Worley Smithwick, for many years superintendent of a Methodist orphanage in Raleigh, N.C.

When Mrs. Smithwick's body was found floating in a lake, police immediately launched a hunt for Barr, last seen three days earlier. He and the widow were headed for a drive-in movie at the time.

Admits Killing Wife

OWOSO — (P)—Wayne Gilbert, 38, of Argentine, Mich., was bound over to circuit court Saturday on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of his wife Loretta, 38. He waived examination. Sheriff Charles Downer said Gilbert admitted shooting his estranged wife Friday.

Seven Die In Rain

TURIN, Italy—(P)—Torrential rains in northern Italy today took the lives of seven persons, injured scores and inundated many communities as streams burst their banks yesterday.

Auto Tragedy Orphans 11 Children, Eldest 15

PONTIAC, Mich. — (P)—Fifteen-year-old Gerard Moore bit his lips and tried his hardest to be a brave man today.

The children's parents, Murray J. Moore, 36, and Mary Jean Moore, 33, were killed in a traffic crash early Saturday.

A car filled with beer-drinking teen-agers crashed head-on into the Moore's auto. Four of the five teen-agers were killed.

As police continued an inquiry into the crash, relatives cared for the 11 youngsters at the newly purchased nine-room Moore home in nearby Leonard.

The family had moved in only six weeks ago. Prior to that time the Oakland county juvenile home had boarded some of the children. They range in age from six weeks to Gerard's 15.

"Mom and dad," he said, "bought a house so we could all be together."

"This is the first time we've been together in almost a year and now more than ever we don't want to be split up."

The children's parents, Murray J. Moore, 36, and Mary Jean Moore, 33, were killed in a traffic crash early Saturday.

Four of the seven, among them Perrone's relative, Augustino Orlando, 26, were free on $1,000 bond, pending a hearing.

Meanwhile, a representative of a subsidiary of the Detroit Michigan Stove Co. said he and the company president, John A. Fry, were "completely amazed."

The Kefauver committee charged that Detroit Michigan Stove hired hoodlums to keep a union out of the plant. Employees of the company were among those arrested for "investigation of conspiracy."

British Leader Speaks Mildly At UN Meeting

No Attacks Made On Soviet Regime

PARIS — (P)—Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden called on the Russians today to put aside major world issues temporarily and seek a step-by-step solution to the cold war.

"Let us grasp the definite and limited problems, and work for their practical solution," Eden said in a conciliatory speech before the United Nations general assembly.

"That is the real road to peace. That is the way to make a fresh start," he declared.

Small Issues First

Eden's speech, his first in the U.N. since the founding conference and San Francisco in 1945, was notable for its mild tone and lack of attacks on the Russians.

He urged all U.N. members—including the Soviet Union—to work from the small issues to the great "With real good will."

Backing up U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson's policy statement last week on every point, Eden cited the British-French-American disarmament proposals as one example of how the east-west disputants could work from the small issues to the large.

"We suggest," he declared, that disarmament "should begin with the less important categories of armed forces and armaments, then move on to those that are more important and secret, and therefore more difficult to handle."

Appeals To Vishinsky

Eden appealed to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky to reconsider his scornful rejection of the western proposals. The Russians had submitted, instead, their own disarmament plan calling for a world arms conference.

Eden also urged, as Acheson had before him, that agreement be reached to:

1. To end the war in Korea;

2. Reunite Germany through free Democratic elections;

3. Give Austria a treaty ending the occupation by France, Britain, the Soviet Union and the

New Naval Aircraft Carriers Get Bigger Hard-Hitting Planes

PARIS — (P)—The substantial increase in naval air strength recommended by the joint chiefs of staff will include not only more but bigger, harder-hitting planes flying off the decks of new or modernized carriers.

This picture emerged today out of a discussion with naval airmen about the Navy's project to build an ultra-modern, flush-deck carrier and the planes that will be ready for her when she is finished in late 1953 or 1954.

Air Strength Expands

Meanwhile, the continued program of rebuilding flight decks, elevators, hangar facilities and other topside equipment of existing carriers will make them ready for using heavier attack aircraft and the longer-range jet fighters even before new carriers are in the fleet.

Naval air strength has expanded sharply since the start of the Korean war when there were only nine air groups and 20 patrol squadrons, most of them well below authorized strength in aircraft.

Network Highlights

NEW YORK—(P)—Every Saturday afternoon CBS Radio assembles a crew of 69 men just for football broadcasting. That many are needed for the weekly roundup of 20 or more games conducted from New York by Red Barber.

Ordinarily for a single game five men would be used, including announcer, spotter or announcer's aide, and field engineers. The roundup, which includes many as five games in semi-play-by-play form, requires a much more extensive staff. Among the extras are switching engineers whose job it is to move the network origination point from place to place constantly at the direction of Barber and co-worker John Derr.

JUST LIKE A BUNCH OF CAPITALISTS — The most lavish array of food and drink ever to be handed out in party-happy Washington comes when the Russian Embassy celebrates the anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik revolution. Here is a general view of the Reds' elaborate buffet that included turkey, chicken, ham, duck and lobster salad—with vodka, champagne and whisky flowing from adjacent bars. High Washington officials generally snubbed the Soviet affair, but were hardly missed in the mob that turned out in an assortment of evening clothes, gold-braided uniforms, street clothes and sports outfits. Herring Run Under Way; Predict Big Catch Here

Herring is a little fish with a big volume of production locally and a good market. Last year Delta county commercial fishermen caught an estimated one million pounds and expect to equal that production this year.

The herring run is now under way in the northern Green Bay waters, a start somewhat later than last year but expected to develop rapidly into peak volume within a few days.

Roy Jensen of Jensen & Jensen market today reported 28,000 pounds of herring were brought here Saturday. Additional tons were sold by fisherman of Gardien, Fairport and Fayette.

Variety Of Uses

The run began about two weeks ago for fishermen of the Garden peninsula area, who turned to herring when the production of whitefish began to fall off.

Low in cost and high in flavor and nutrition, the Great Lakes herring supplies the largest fish crop of the lakes. About 6,600,000 pounds were harvested last year, with nearly one-half the total being taken from Green bay and adjacent waters.

Commercial fishermen at the beginning of the run have been receiving from four to four and one-half cents for their herring. The price invariably falls at the peak of the fall run.

A fine food fish, with hundreds of thousands of pounds smoked for a table delicacy, additional thousands of pounds reach the market fresh.

Deer Hunting Caution Urged

28 U. P. Accidents Last Season

Your chances of being hit by a stray rifle bullet in the Upper Peninsula during the 1951 deer season are very slim according to figures on deer hunting accidents. Only one person was injured by what officers believed to be a stray bullet and that person was not a hunter. She was minding her own business home in her yard.

However, there still is a chance that you may be shot for a deer. In the Upper Peninsula during the last year, 13 were shot at deer. Of the 13 hit, 7 died of their wounds. A high price to pay for a buck deer! There is also a chance that someone will shoot at you, thinking you are a bear. Last year, two used this excuse and one of the two shot at died of injuries.

Red Clothing Helps

To wear bright red clothing will help, but to shoot at only legal game is the answer. If figures kept over many years mean anything, then two people will shoot others while taking a supposedly empty gun from their car. Neither died from this accident last year. Several hunters shot themselves when they slipped on icy roads and trails while hurrying after wounded deer.

Investigation of two other accidents revealed that one died of a heart attack and the other from over exhaustion and exposure. Keep in mind that the hunters looking only for venison are eventually bound to get a hunter. Also, the "over 40" hunter who thinks he is still in his "teens" is asking for trouble, too.

10 Fatal Accidents

Of the 28 hunting accidents that occurred in the Upper Peninsula during the 1950 season, 10 were fatal and 8 of these resulted in firearms. None of the hunters responsible for the 28 accidents occurring in the Upper Peninsula were under 19 years of age so it appears the guy who thinks he is an experienced hunter is the person who needs a self appraisal on deer-hunting safety techniques.

There were 97,402 licensed deer hunters in the Upper Peninsula last year. One fatal accident occurred out of every 9,400 hunters; one accident out of every 3,480 hunters. Over the last seven years, an average of six hunters died per year—a low of two in 1946 and a high of ten in 1950.

Chest Drive Winding Up

Final Solicitations This Week

If you have not yet made your contribution to the Delta County Community Chest, there is still time to do so!

That was the word today from Chest headquarters, 710½ Ludington street, as County Chairman Nicholas Chapekis, assisted by his wife, Marion, began making final tabulations of all contributions received to date from Escanaba, Gladstone and the 14 townships.

With the residential campaign still not quite complete and several other collections to be made, it appeared probable the city and county would reach their respective goals of $20,000 and $12,500. However, success of the campaign hinges on the cooperation given by those who have not yet been contacted. It was emphasized.

"Although 11 committees have been at work in Escanaba and, in some cases, there has been duplication, some residents have not yet been contacted and have not made a contribution," City Chairman James G. Ward, Jr., pointed out.

"We hope that all persons will be visited during the house-to-house canvass to be concluded this week. Workers under the supervision of eight precinct captains are making a real effort to visit every home, but it is possible some persons will be missed.

"Those who are not called upon by Tuesday night of this week are asked to mail or bring contributions to the Chest headquarters," he urged. "In that way, everyone will have the opportunity to participate, and it will be possible to make

Atty. Ray Derham Of Iron Mountain Flown To Mayos

IRON MOUNTAIN — Ray Derham, prominent Iron Mountain attorney who was taken ill while in Marquette on business 10 days ago, left for the Mayo Clinic Friday afternoon in a plane chartered by Mrs. Derham and her husband's brother, Roy Derham, Dickinson county judge of probate.

The decision to fly the stricken man to Rochester was made following a conference with Dr. A. L. Swinton, of Marquette, his physician. Dr. W. H. Alexander, of Iron Mountain, was summoned to Marquette on Wednesday and confirmed Dr. Swinton's diagnosis that Mr. Derham had suffered one or more cerebral hemorrhages.

Mr. Derham was taken ill on the street in Marquette and summoned a cab to take him to St. Luke's hospital, where he was admitted for treatment.

Two Hunters With Six Illegal Deer Deserved Stiff Sentence

WHEN two game violators are caught with the carcasses of six deer in their possession, there is cause for suspicion that the violators may be engaged in the illegal business of selling venison.

The six deer found in the possession of two game law violators Friday night north of Cooks were does and one spikehorn buck, with horns only two inches long. None could have been passed as legal game for sale to licensed hunters after the opening of the deer season next Thursday.

Action Still Awaits On Hoover Reforms

THE Hoover commission's recommendations on government reorganization and economy were among the boldest and most hopeful proposals ever offered for the betterment of our federal system.

In the beginning, both the president and Congress seemed to realize this, and they moved energetically and with some courage to put these recommendations in force. By the time the 81st Congress was well into its second year, half the program had been adopted, and savings of consequence were foreseen.

At this juncture, however, the streamlining drive gradually bogged down. Mr. Truman sent up to Capitol Hill certain proposals which were modified with apparent political intent. The lawmakers balked at these, and then stubbornly refused to approve other important features of the commission plan.

The 82nd Congress, which convened this January, allowed the unfinished portion of the program to languish in the backwaters. Nothing was done.

Thus we stand, with perhaps the most vital half of the Hoover proposals still awaiting action nearly three years after their original presentation.

If we can believe the cheerful supporters of the program, additional savings rising ultimately to from $3 billion to $5 billion could be realized by carrying it through. Whichever measure you take, it means greater value from the taxpaying dollar, perhaps some day a small tax burden.

This is no dull academic matter of interest only to students of efficient government. It concerns every American who is worried over the course of federal spending. With defense, foreign aid, pensions and debt requiring huge outlays that simply cannot be escaped, there is almost no hope for real savings except through a wholesale modernization of our creaky, Jerry-built government structure.

Each sound advance made should contribute to a result that one day will mean more money in your pocket. You therefore have a right to expect action, both from the president and from Congress. This is the perfect opportunity for the lawmakers to demonstrate their oft-expressed affection for economy.

If they do not act affirmatively, you may be sure they are yielding to pressures from those who have a vested interest at flat government—in waste, duplication of effort, over-expansion and mismanagement.

A governing body which feels itself powerless to control or reduce its expanding girth is a danger to its country and to the democratic system it seeks to make effective.

The voters of America will mark carefully how their representatives meet this problem in 1952. The testing time is nearly at hand for the men who shout so much and do so little for economy.

A Most Vicious And Dispicable Enemy

HUNTING for villains is a great American pastime these days. Some of the sleuthing looks about as sensible as the "Good Guys and Bad Guys" adventures of our boyhood fancy. But there is nothing fanciful about one villain among us today.

Most everyone now has heard that many relatives of men serving in combat on the Korean front are getting false reports that the men have been killed or are missing in action. In every case, these reports are thoroughly malicious in motivation.

Every mother, father, sister, brother and sweetheart of a man in combat ought to know that the only reliable word of his death or wounding or disappearance comes from the armed services by official telegram. All other reports may be completely discounted.

What kind of human beings are there among us who could stir such wicked mischief by playing upon the deepest feelings of a soldier's loved ones? This is the most despicable thing that has happened in America in many a day. All authorities should combine to track down and punish severely these vicious individuals. Their cause could only be the enemy's.

Questions and Answers

Q—What new method is to be used for preserving The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution?

A—The parchments are to be hermetically sealed in atmospheres of 99.99 per cent pure helium, an inert gas. Filters will be installed against ultra violet and other harmful light rays.

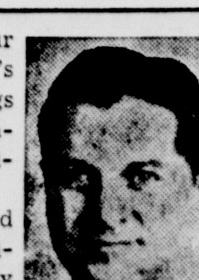

Q—When was the first enemy naval vessel sunk by a U. S. submarine?

A—On Jan. 26, 1942, the submarine "Gudgeon" fired a brace of torpedoes at a Japanese ship, the I-173, distinguished as the first enemy naval vessel in history to be sunk by a U. S. submarine.

Regardless of what it is, it pays to take a little longer and do it right.

When you think the time has come to do some work upon your house, and you plan a new addition with your interested spouse, it's a job you can't afford unless you do it all yourself, from the footings and foundations to each cabinet and shelf. But the eager little woman gives you reassurance quick, that she'll help you with your building chores and to the end will stick.

So you like to break your aching back while moving dirt and rocks, and you sweat while mixing mortar and while lugging building blocks. But you get no help from anyone, although you're badly bent, and your wife declares that what you need is lighter weight cement! And another thing, she tells you, that she's never understood, why two-by-four cannot be made of stuff like balsam wood.

As you labor on night after night, your progress she will hail, and sometimes will stop her sewing so's to hand to you a nail. And she says she'll really help you lots when comes the time to paint, but it comes and where you need her—well, it's just the place she ain't. When you're done, she eyes the cupboards and the panels and the shelves, and ye gods, she says: "Just think, my dear, WE did it all ourselves!"

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Despite President Truman's 1948 whistle-stop campaign based on protecting the nation from big business, his administrators have now decided to put one of the biggest metal companies in the world in the already tightly held aluminum business.

They are awarding the cheap government water power from Hungry Horse dam in Montana to the Anaconda Copper company, despite vigorous objections by Mr. Truman's own justice department that the contract violates the principle of the Sherman anti-trust act.

They are also closing their eyes to the criminal record of Anaconda, whose Anaconda Wire and Cable company was twice convicted of war frauds during World War II for selling defective wire to the armed forces—wire which, if not detected, might have caused the loss of American troops in battle.

Ironic fact is that a small business firm, the Harvey Machine company of Los Angeles, was about to receive an RFC loan to help put it in the aluminum business in Montana. But when Harvey's wartime record in producing Navy shells was questioned, the loan was held up.

It was right and proper that Harvey's record should have been scrutinized, though for unexplained reasons Secretary of the Navy Kimball has flatly refused to give the Navy's files on this case either to his own colleague, the secretary of the interior, or to the House investigating committee. However, this columnist, who has seen the files, can report that Harvey's record was saintlike compared to Anaconda's.

Anaconda was convicted at Fort Wayne, Ind., on June 12, 1943 for defrauding the government in connection with the sale of defective wire, was fined $31,000, and three of its men were given suspended prison sentences.

Furthermore, there is a possibility that the automobile used in the violations may be condemned.

Few persons will contend that the penalties assessed are too great for the offenses committed.

Remarked the judge: "The company perpetrated these frauds with the intent to increase their profits without regard to the loves of American boys."

On top of the criminal convictions, the government brought civil suit after the war and collected $1,626,000 from Anaconda. Yet this is the company which will now be favored with cheap government power, a tax-amortization deal whereby the investment is written off in four years, and a contract whereby the government buys virtually all its aluminum.

MONOPOLY IGNORED

Other phases of the Anaconda aluminum deal are also interesting. When little businessman Harvey rang government doorbells an dsat in government ante-rooms trying to get support for his aluminum plan, he was advised "Why don't you get a wealthy partner?"

Meanwhile Anaconda made various overtures to him, proposed a lopsided partnership, Harvey resisted. Finally the government served notice that the priorities he had received on materials, together with his power contract at Hungry Horse, would be taken away. Throwing in the sponge, he agreed to become Anaconda's junior partner. This means Harvey will be swallowed up by Anaconda's junior partner.

This modest-appearing house on a quiet street off London's Whitehall has been the headquarters for British political power since 1735, says the National Geographic Society. There, against a curiously dual background of private and official life, the Prime Minister meets with his cabinet to discuss and decide on affairs of state.

There, too, assembles one of the most august bodies of the British legal system, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, which decides appeals from the British Commonwealth of Nations around the world.

Interesting fact No. 2

The man who made the final decision for Anaconda was Manly Fleischmann, head of defense production. One of his right-hand men is Joseph Mulally, an official of Anaconda Wire and Cable, the same company twice convicted of defrauding Uncle Sam during the war. Mulally is a $1-a-year man, continues to draw salary from Anaconda. He declined to tell this columnist how much Anaconda paid him, claimed he had nothing to do with Fleischmann's decision in favor of Anaconda, but is one of Fleischmann's assistants.

Interesting fact No. 3—Fleischmann and other defense production officials did not bother to consult the justice department either in regard to Anaconda's criminal record or its monopoly position until after they had reached a tentative decision.

The past record of an individual seeking a government job is sometimes scrutinized by the FBI for months. But not the slightest check was made of Anaconda's war record until Fleischmann was called by a newsman. By that time the decision to give Anaconda the contract was already made. A session was then held with the justice department to go through the more formal routine of checking.

Who Said He Was Invulnerable?

Churchill Back In Downing Street; New Chapter Opens In No. 10 Story

A famous green door with a lion's head knocker has swung open again for the new Prime Minister of Britain's victorious conservative government.

The door is the one leading to Number 10 Downing Street, which, by virtue of his office, once more has become the official residence of Winston Churchill as it was in the years from 1940 to 1945.

This modest-appearing house on a quiet street off London's Whitehall has been the headquarters for British political power since 1735, says the National Geographic Society. There, against a curiously dual background of private and official life, the Prime Minister meets with his cabinet to discuss and decide on affairs of state.

First Prime Minister to live at the Downing Street house was Sir Robert Walpole, who took it over in 1735. Walpole had refused the place as a personal gift from his sovereign, George II, but finally accepted its use on condition that it be made the official home of each First Lord of the Treasury. Since the British offices of Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury are customarily held by the same man, the house is fixed in public mind as the residence of the chief of the British government.

Made British History

The bare list of famous names and events associated with Number 10 Downing Street is a recitation of much of British history. Among the glittering company of those who played their special roles against its mellow backdrop were the Elder and Younger Pitt, the Duke of Wellington, Sir Robert Peel, Lord Palmerston, Benjamin Disraeli, William Ewart Gladstone, Lloyd George, Ramsay MacDonald, and Stanley Baldwin.

Winston Churchill, in addition to his years of tenancy as Prime Minister, was also a familiar visitor there in various official capacities, including terms as First Lord of the Admiralty in two World Wars.

The mixture of home life and affairs of state carried on beneath its roof makes Number 10 a unique building. Much larger than it appears from its simple narrow exterior, it is a labyrinth of corridors and stairways, of official meeting, dining and drawing rooms from which one may wander into a small private sitting room, a pantry, or kitchen. On any threshold, visitors say, a household pet is as likely to appear as a distinguished statesman.

Yet it is never forgotten that Number 10 is of paramount state importance, as is indicated by steps taken to insure against leakage of information. The Cabinet Room, for instance, is equipped with double doors, its windows with double sashes to balk would-be listeners. After portentous meetings, all scrap paper, including blotters, is carefully burned, and the minutes of the occasion are secretly printed by staff workers sworn to reveal nothing of what they have seen and transcribed.

Rousing The Dead—We recall with interest announcements from Soviet Russia a few years ago that Russian scientists had brought life back to the dead. These reports were officially discounted as more Communist propaganda.

Today in the United States two such cases have received national attention.

The latest is that of the San Francisco woman who, at last reports, is still living.

The time may come when medical science will look upon death as complete and final only after efforts to revive the apparently dead have proved futile; when death will be the signal to administer resuscitatives and rush the person to the hospital rather than the morgue.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

BURIED ALIVE—The fear of being "buried alive" was in the past a real yet fascinating emotion—the possibility of such a happening was real, its discussion in life a subject fascinating to the morbid.

In Europe and America before the genteel art of undertaking reached its present perfection, stories were told and retold of dear Aunt Agatha "who was buried alive, you know."

These stories were always recounted in hushed tones and with grisly details. They had to move the cemetery, or something, and the casket fell apart and there was Aunt Agatha—she had clawed the casket, ripped the lining, torn out her hair.

The fear of burial before death caused some persons to take extraordinary precautions against that tragic possibility. Tubes extended from the coffins to above ground, and sometimes bells were erected with ropes leading from the grave—so the "corpse" could when rousing from apparent death give the rope a lusty pull.

CAN'T HAPPEN NOW—In these days unless the apparently dead revive before they reach the morgue they have small chance of escaping the grave.

Ministrations of the embalmer preclude the possibility of the apparently dead ever rousing after burial. The body embalmed is as dead as anything can be.

But in an earlier day grieving relatives or the physicians would hold a small mirror to the mouth of the deceased, hoping for that telltale trace of vapor that meant the breath of life still existed, although the pulse could not be discerned.

Yet to this day there is the recurring phenomena of life after death, as witness the recent story of the San Francisco woman who revived after two hours of "death" and may live but never completely recover all of her faculties.

NOT IMMEDIATE—Death is the moment when life ends.

In the case of the San Francisco woman, as in all cases of death, the cells of the human body do not die at the moment the nourishing supply of blood is reduced or stopped.

The hair may continue to grow for several hours after death. The cells of the cortex of the brain are very susceptible to lack of oxygen. They usually die first when the blood ceases to circulate.

"If the cells of the brain are completely deprived of oxygen for five or ten minutes, they can no longer completely regain their ability to function," according to one authority.

The cells in the skin and in the bones may live for several hours after death.

THROUGH CENTURIES—Present-day customs in embalming and burial of the dead are a comparatively recent development in America.

In pioneer days the task of preparing the body for burial fell upon the members of the family, or was delegated to a friend. Clothed in the deceased's best, placed in a home-made coffin, the body was taken to the cemetery near the settlement and interred with or without benefit of clergy. Often the only rites were a few words spoken on a Bible passage read by a patriarch of the community.

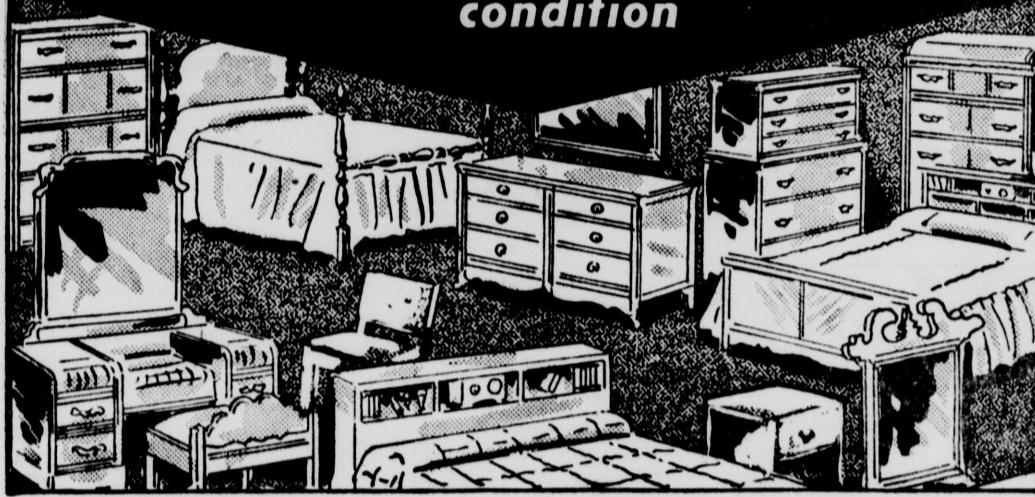

Simplicity of the service in no way indicated heartlessness. For grief was as deep and mourning is genuine as it is today.

WORDS THAT HURT—Times come when words fly in unpleasant comment. The world cannot always be sweet and light, and it may be worth while, therefore, to examine some of the terms in our language expressive of these personal sentiments and note

There's One Way To Spoil A Wife, Philosopher Says

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK.—(P)—There is only one way to spoil a wife. Present her "what she wishes."

Give her your youth. What is that? You can always save your second childhood for yourself.

Give her your money. What is money? You can always borrow money from the fellows at the office—and worry about paying them back.

There is another thing. Promise to show her an evening out on the town—a gay, mad evening of fun.

Naturally, what with an evening out costing what it does, you don't offer this lure lightly. It takes only half the earnings of a lifetime.

She (the heroine) may give you the impression she would like to have a quiet evening at home with you.

But if you give in to her whim and spend the evening at home you will not only spoil her—you will ruin your future married life. She may subconsciously get the idea that you ought to come home to her every night after work.

Be Romantic

This will create two problems: 1.—What the devil will you do with her?

2.—What the devil will she do to you?

To those two problems civilization—like savagery before it—is struggling for a civilized answer. There is none.

But to get back to the main problem—how are you going to guarantee your wife a night out, and spoil her?

One way is to be romantic—give her something to live for. Under the present theory you plant an apple core in the ground and tell your gal that when the tree that springs from it is as tall as she is—well, the drinks and the night out are on you.

Of course, the only fair thing a man with wild ideas of justice like that can do is to marry a tall girl, and, second, to go out every spring and fall and trim the tree so that it is spread wide and doesn't grow higher.

They Can't Resist

The best way to spoil a woman is to give her your best years of your life, your money, and still lure her on with the false and eternal promise that some night you will take her out into the society of the people she wants to meet.

And if you really yearn to spoil her forever—dance with her once.

No wife can resist husband as reckless as that.

Moral: Any man who thinks he can give a woman an even break is already half an hour late.

Mail Insurance Firm Unlicensed In This State

The Michigan Association of Insurance Agents advises the citizens of this State that companies and organizations which are not licensed by the Michigan Department of Insurance are not required to file annual reports with the Department and therefore are not subject to its examination. However, this does not prohibit mail order solicitation.

Many citizens wisely contact their local insurance agents or the Michigan Department of Insurance to inquire into the finances and reputation of the insurance mail order concerns. Unfortunately, many citizens consider any insurance organization making any solicitation in Michigan to be licensed by this State.

Recent broad mail solicitation by the American Automobile Owner's Safety Association and Safety Drivers Insurance Corporation, Kansas City, Missouri, created a large number of inquiries concerning financial status and reputation. Not being licensed by the Michigan Department of Insurance to transact an insurance business in Michigan, the department was unable to adequately respond and therefore made inquiry of the State of Missouri Division of Insurance. The following is quoted from their reply:

"This company is a business corporation organized under the laws of the State of New Mexico. They are insuring their members in the Safety Drivers Insurance Corporation and apparently are doing all their business by mail. "The Safety Drivers Insurance Corporation is a stipulated premium company organized under the laws of the State of Missouri. This company was organized in January of 1951 with a capital stock of $25,000 and a guaranty fund of $5,000. Under our law, when the guaranty fund becomes exhausted, the Superintendent of Insurance of this State has the right to require an assessment of the policyholders."

It is the recommendation of the Michigan Department of Insurance to residents of Michigan wishing to purchase insurance that they secure coverage in companies duly authorized to transact business within this state. Local insurance agents are in a position to determine and advise what

Lawmakers Hop Around World

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—So many Congressmen are going abroad that the military Air Transport Service is said to be hard pressed to provide them suitable planes.

In addition, the state department is reported running short of escort officers.

Approximately 80 House members and 19 Senators now are overseas or are planning official excursions during the current adjournment of Congress. Others completed tours earlier in the year.

Although a few groups chose to travel by ship, most of the lawmakers preferred to go by air, covering a greater amount of territory. Several of the journeys extend around the world.

The defense department is finding it a headache to rustle up enough planes of the type usually assigned to VIPs—Very Important Persons—officials say. Practically all insist upon plush, four-engine ships. An exception is one small group planning to leave soon for South America, where many airfields will accommodate only the smaller two-engine jobs.

Hunters Start To Arrive Here Season To Open Thursday Morning

The vanguard of Michigan's deer hunting army hit Manistique Friday and Saturday, and during the first part of this week the main force is expected to pour through the community.

The season opens next Thursday morning, Nov. 15.

First downstate hunters registered at the Michigan state police post here Saturday morning, and by last night approximately 60 had been in to register.

The local post went on 24-hour duty last night for the convenience of hunters, with the police radio and desk being open all night. Normally the radio suspends operation at 11 p. m. daily, and the office is closed, although the post is open for telephone communication all night.

All downstate hunters have been requested to register at the post before proceeding to their hunting camps, giving their home addresses and telephone numbers and the exact location of their hunting cabins or tents.

Eunice McGahan And Gary Musselman Win Top 4-H Club Honors

Schoolcraft county's outstanding boy and girl 4-H club members during the summer project program are Eunice McGahan, of Cooks, and Gary Musselman, of Germfask.

The two were selected during the 4-H achievement recognition program Friday evening at the Oak theatre.

Eunice, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McGahan. She has been in club work since 1947, and has had two years of clothing, two years of dairying and two years of potatoes.

She has previously won several county awards, including a trip to Camp Shaw, Chatham, in 1950. Last year she also won an attractive cup in the 4-H premier growers contest at the Upper Peninsula Potato Show, and this year she exhibited a blue ribbon sample at the U. P. Show.

Her potatoes will be exhibited at the Farmers Week Show at Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Preliminary Report On Central Park Is Submitted By Lynch

A preliminary report on the development of Central park has been received by T. H. Reque, city recreation director, from G. Leslie Lynch, of New York, recreation planner for the National Recreation association.

Lynch was here two weeks ago to make a survey of Central development of the site.

The preliminary report follows:

General comment: Central park can be made very beautiful and can at the same time provide great recreational facilities. The quarry lake is a beautiful little body of water and it apparently has an adequate supply of pure water to make it suitable for swimming. The adjoining county-owned property provides a splendid level area north of the hospital for a baseball field.

Topographical survey: The topographical survey that is to be provided should show the boundaries of both the city-owned and the county-owned property; five feet contours or elevations every fifty one or one hundred feet; elevations at important points; rock ledges (with elevations); trees that should be saved if any; all buildings; hydrants; fences; ski run; proposed toboggan slide; shore line of lake; limits of two feet, four feet, and eight feet depths of the lake; recreation facilities in the high school athletic field; and any other features deemed necessary.

Pool Should Be Drained

Quarry lake: Steps should be taken to make sure that the lake will always have pure water for swimming. The cooperation of the state health department should probably be obtained toward this end. It is probable that the lake should be drained and cleaned out. Fences ten feet high will be necessary for safety reasons, but chain link fences need not mar the beauty of the lake too much.

The lake should be made to look as if it were a natural body of water and it can be very beautiful.

Recreation facilities to be provided: The following facilities were mentioned at the meeting (the recreation board should add any other facilities they think should be included): One a baseball diamond (on county property), one softball diamond (lighted), two tennis courts, bandshell, picnic area, play area for small children with wading pool, bathhouse, skating (on lake), shelter with toilet facilities, memorial flagpole, ski run (existing), toboggan slide.

Tennis Courts

The tennis courts should probably be hard surfaced and the pavement should be extended to provide space for shuffleboard, basketball, badminton, and paddle tennis. Basketball can be played on the tennis court area or at least there can be baskets for "basket shooting."

There should probably be also a small area for apparatus for older children and perhaps a special area for girls and a special area for adults.

Community support: There was plenty of evidence at the evening meeting that there is enthusiastic support of this project and every effort should be made to get the support of the entire community. After the plan is completed, a priority list should be set up and various organizations should be invited to get back of the projects set up in the priority list—one at a time of course. The actual construction work should remain under the direction of the recreation board in order to make sure that it is well done.

Recommendations

Recommendations: 1, the county commissioners should be tactfully approached after the plan is completed to the end of obtaining perpetual right to use of the county property for recreation purposes. It would be better still to have title to the property transferred to the city, and with the enthusiastic support of the entire community, that end could surely be accomplished. 2, The ice house should be removed. Perhaps the one who has the lease would be willing to cancel it if he were given the right to cut ice for the remainder of the lease period. He must be required to erect fences around the cutting area if the lake is to be used for skating. 3, The property now owned by the Hewett Wholesale Grocery along Maple avenue should be acquired by the city and the buildings should be removed.

Conclusion: It is a pleasure to help you get started on the development of your work. With the enthusiastic support of the community that you have now and that I know you will have to a still greater degree, I expect you to work wonders with your park during the next few years.

After I receive the topographical survey, I shall get busy on your plan and shall have it in your hands as soon as possible.

Gulliver Man Is Hurt In Accident Sunday Afternoon

Jack Beaudoin, 52, of Gulliver, suffered face cuts and rib fractures at 4 p. m. yesterday when his car left the road and rolled over on US-2 near Blaney.

He was treated at the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital and released.

Beaudoin, who was traveling west, told Manistique state police that he was forced off the highway by another car. His machine ran into a ditch on the north side of the road, making a complete overturn and coming to rest again on its wheels. Damage to the car was extensive.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

With football season out of the way in our high school circles, we'd like to take a little time here to congratulate the Escanaba high school cross country team . . . While football and basketball stars made headlines and bring out the flowered adjectives on sports pages, the cross country boys grind their way through a long training period for ONE public appearance . . . They perform in what is probably the most unspectacular sport in the books, and also probably the least publicized . . . But their chosen sport is very nearly the most rugged imaginable . . . We doff our topper, belatedly, to the Esky athletes who recently concluded their one-event season.

Pat Malone, Upper Peninsula resident and former Green Bay Packer gridder, has resigned as head basketball coach at West High in Green Bay . . . He will be succeeded by Bob Biolo, also a U. P. man . . . Malone graduated from Stambaugh high school and Western Michigan college . . . Biolo is an Iron Mountain and Wake Forest, Ill., athletic star . . . Malone began his coaching career at Vulcan where he remained for six years.

Jim Thorpe, the legendary Carlisle school Indian who won fame as a football, track and baseball star—and last year was named by the Associated Press as the No. 1 athlete of this century—is a charity case at the Lankenau hospital in Philadelphia . . . Thorpe, flat broke and now a bulky, fat, aging 63 with thin greying hair and heavy wrinkles, underwent successful surgery Friday for removal of a cancerous growth on his lower lip.

Things are tough all over, but apparently they are rougher in Norway than elsewhere . . . Coach Allan Ronberg, eyeing the rapidly approaching basketball season, shudders when asked about the season's prospects . . . He has only one letterman available from last year.

A meeting of the Northern Michigan-Wisconsin Hockey league originally slated for yesterday in Houghton has been rescheduled for next Sunday . . . It looks as though at least five teams will be back in action this season . . . That's Escanaba, Portage Lake, Calumet-Laurium, Marquette and Eagle River . . . Escanaba should have a good nucleus of veterans around which to form a team this winter.

Michigan Faces Losing Record In Grid Season

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (AP) — Michigan's once-feared football warriors today hovered on the brink of their first losing season in 15 years.

Saturday's 20 to 7 loss to Cornell gave Michigan a 3-4 record for the season with two games to go. The Wolverines will have to take Northwestern and Ohio State on successive Saturdays now to avoid the fate of the 1936 team—more losses than wins.

The 1936 outfit lost seven of eight games.

The Wolverines still are in the Western conference race with three victories in four starts and conceivably end up 5-5.

Lost Last Two

However, successive losses to Illinois and Cornell may have destroyed the momentum that carried the Wolverines to wins over Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota.

Against Cornell, the momentum was destroyed in the second half as an aroused Cornell club ripped Michigan's line to shreds and struck for three touchdowns and the win.

Before that, Michigan had enjoyed a 7-0 first half lead and seemed adequate for the job ahead.

But with Quarterback John Jaekel, who completed nine of 15 passes for 133 yards, and halfbacks Lindy Hull, Bill Whelan, Steve Merz and Fullback Hal Seiden-berg bewildering the Wolverines, Cornell took over completely.

Michigan's defensive unit succumbed to the off tackle smashes and the sharp passes of Jaekel. Michigan came out with 175 net yards, 136 of which came on pass plays. Cornell collected 268 yards, about evenly split, and racked up the first Ivy league win over Michigan since Penn did it in 1936.

Shocked
The uprising came as a shock after a first half in which Michigan had played on fairly even terms with the Cornell squad.

In the third period, though, Cornell took off on an 80-yard march that tied the game when Hull went over from the four and Whelan converted. And just before the quarter ended, on the first play from scrimmage after a punt return to the Michigan 39, Jaekel hit Merz with a pass that put Cornell out in front for good.

The whole thing added up to a letdown that Coach Bennie Oosterbaan had feared all week. This was a logical place for a dip in efficiency and the Wolverines dropped.

Minor injuries affected Peterson, leading Michigan ground gainer with 42 yards on 15 tries, End Merretho who was the best defensive player on the field, and Linebacker Roger Zatkoff, who aggravated the ankle sprain he suffered a week ago in the Illinois game.

season that they were potentially great.

Showed Potential

Flashes of greatness were shown in every game. But in nearly every game the Spartan scoring machine would sputter as the players fumbled, made mistakes and were caught with their defenses down. In its last four games Michigan State had to come from behind to win and became known as a second half ball club.

"You could be a whale of a team," Munn told his squad. "But you've got to work to do it. You've got to block and tackle and run with all your might and, above all, you've got to listen to your coaches."

There was irony in the fact that Michigan State reached its peak and proved itself against Notre Dame.

Michigan State decided in 1948 to gamble on trying to go bigtime in football, mainly on the strength of Notre Dame's promise of an extended series between the two schools. The gate receipts from these games have been a big help in paying for the stepped-up athletic program and Macklin stadium expansion.

Another ironical footnote on the game was the fact that Fullback Dick Panin, who started the Spartans on the glory road with his 88 yard touchdown run in the first period, couldn't join in the celebration of the victory.

Panin Hospitalized

Panin, top ground gainer with his 150 yards in eight tries, spent Saturday night in the hospital while doctors reset his broken nose.

The lop-sided victory projected the Spartans back into the thick of the fight for first place national honors.

Munn, a 43-year-old former all-America guard at Minnesota, declared the Spartans' fighting edge against the Irish, was not the result of any high-pressure, emotional tactics.

"They got in that mood all by themselves," he said. "This happened to be one of the games they had their hearts set on winning. The other was Michigan (which State won, 25-0). I could tell all week they'd be ready."

Although Panin's breakdown on the first Michigan State offensive play of the game was the outstanding individual feat, four other Spartans shared in the scoring and brilliant performances were turned in by at least half a dozen others.

Dorow Outstanding

Al Dorow, who did a masterly job at quarterback, was voted the game ball by his teammates. Dorow did some nice running and completed 11 of his 17 pass tries for 112 yards and two touchdowns.

Capt. Bob Carey, who has been handicapped by injuries all season, played his best game of the year. Carey caught three passes worth 44 yards, one of them for a touchdown, and had a perfect day with five conversions.

Ellis Duckett, the Flint freshman, caught the other touchdown pass. It was Duckett's first college touchdown and was made possible only through the persistence of Dorow.

Duckett carried down to the one yard line. Dorow called his number three times but Duckett couldn't manage to get over. Dorow badly wanted to see Duckett get himself a touchdown. So on the fourth down Dorow threw to Duckett for the last score of the game.

Vince Pisano and Don Mc Auliffe, running mates at halfback, made the other two touchdowns and provided good contributions to Michigan State's rushing total of 353 yards. Don Coleman, the explosive tackle from Flint, led the line in shattering the Notre Dame defenses and made the majority of the downfield tackles following the punts and kickoffs.

Officials ejected two players, one from each team. Steeler John Schweder and Packer Ray Dipiro were ousted for fistcuffs in the third quarter. Officials called 19 penalties for a total of 186 yards.

Halfback Joe Geri ran, passed and kicked the Steelers to their second win of the season.

The Steelers piled up a 21-lead by half-time. The Packers scored their only touchdown with two and one-half minutes remaining, on a 25-yard pass from Tom Ron to Bobby Mann.

The Steelers completed 11 passes in 21 tries. The Packers made 18 good out of 29.

Green Bay . . . 0 0 0 7 — 7
Pittsburgh . . . 14 7 0 7 — 28

Green Bay scoring: Touchdowns, Mann; Conversion, Cone. Pittsburgh scoring: Touchdowns, Chandnois, Nuzum, Geri, Minarik. Conversions, Geri 4.

Bowl Talk Taboo For Grid Coaches Of College Teams

rule prohibits the same school from playing there two years in a row.

Needs One Win

Illinois needs only one win of its two remaining games for at least a share of the title. Wisconsin practically is out of it because it beat Ohio State. Purdue has a slim chance but the Boilermakers still have Minnesota and Indiana left to play.

Wisconsin beat Penn, 16 to 7, Saturday, while Michigan lost to Cornell, 20 to 7, in a couple of Big Ten-IVy league games.

Tennessee probably is the only team that can take things moderately easy—with the exception of Georgia Tech, which already has accepted an invitation to the Orange bowl in Miami. The Vols, masters of the Southeastern conference, had a 60-14 limbering up exercise at the expense of Washington and Lee and need worry only about Kentucky.

Even if the slow starting Behemoths from the Blue Grass should beat Tennessee, Gen. Bob Neyland's outfit would get into some bowl—Sugar, Cotton or Orange. Babe Parilli and his Kentucky outfit could do it, too. They trimmed Tulane, 37-0, Saturday.

But the big question concerns a team that won't even play in one of the bowls. That is Michigan State, No. 5 in last week's Associated Press poll, and 35-0 conqueror of Notre Dame. Are the Spartans the top team in the country?

No Bowl For Princeton

After their smooth performance as the Irish the Spartans drew lavish praise from Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame who opined that they could have beaten any team in the country that day.

Form hewed close to the line in most of the week's games. In the Ivy league, Princeton and Dick Kazmaier solidified their hold on the top rung by crushing Harvard, 54-13. More's the pity the Ivy league doesn't permit its teams to play in bowls. It would be interesting to see how Princeton would fare.

Maryland, which won the Southern conference championship with as little effort, licked its neighborhood rival, Navy, 40-21 and is a prime candidate for a bowl spot. Georgia Tech, by way of celebrating its fourth invitation to the Orange bowl, shacked Virginia Military Institute, 34-7.

In the Southwest conference, the issue still is not anywhere near settled. Baylor, Texas Christian or Rice all still could win the title and be the host team in the Cotton bowl. Baylor tumbled Texas, 17-6, and Rice nipped Arkansas, 6-0, while T. C. U. was idle.

Ohio State warmed up to its task of facing Illinois by eking out a 61-14 decision over Pitt. In Big Ten affairs, Purdue licked Northwestern, 35-14, and Minnesota shaded Indiana, 16-14.

In the far west, U. C. L. A. turned back Oregon State, 7-0, and California rose over Washington, 37-28.

Clemson beat Boston College, 21-2; Boston University swamped Oregon, 36-6; Villanova overcame Detroit, 26-7, and Holy Cross defeated Marquette, 39-19, in other leading games.

Student Leaps To His Death 18 Floors Up At New York Hotel

NEW YORK — (P)—The stage was an 18th story ledge of the Taft hotel. The actor was a Boston university student. The audience was a homeward bound Broadway theater crowd. The drama was life—and death.

The student, Alexander E. Brahm, 19, of Worcester, Mass., poised himself on the 18-inch ledge. He casually lighted a cigarette. Someone shouted to him from below.

He didn't hear. Everything was planned. He had remembered to leave his watch in his fifth-floor hotel room, his suit coat in a washroom. His room key was in his shoe. The 18th floor map had led him to the ledge through a hallway window.

All was ready. There were more shouts. He took another puff on the cigaret then death. His body crashed to the 7th avenue sidewalk near the Roxy theater.

Judy Garland Worn Out In Comeback, Collapses Backstage

NEW YORK—(P)—Actress Judy Garland, on a successful comeback trail, collapsed backstage at the Palace theater last night after disregarding her doctor's orders not to perform.

"The show must go on," the 29-year-old singer insisted, according to her physician, Dr. Udall J. Salmon.

He had her taken from the theater in an ambulance to a private sanitarium for "a few days." The doctor said she was suffering from "nervous exhaustion."

Judy Garland collapsed shortly after becoming ill in front of her evening audience. She had played a matinee despite Dr. Salmon's earlier plea that she take the day off.

The actress wanted to carry on at the Palace, where she sparked a Broadway revival of vaudeville—and sparked her own triumphant American comeback after her career seemed doomed.

She opened at the theater Oct. 16. The critics raved, and the crowds flocked to the box-office. It was a triumph for the movie star, following a series of illnesses, temperamental outbursts, and two divorces.

Hirohito Heckled By Leftist Students

KYOTO, Japan — (P)—Leftist students heckled Emperor Hirohito today when the Monarch arrived at Kyoto university, but he was not molested.

Kyoto News Agency reported several hundred in a crowd of some 3,000 students hoisted placards and sang the Communist "Internationale." Police rushed to the scene and kept back the students with clubs.

The Emperor, considered divine in Japan before the Allied occupation, was ushered into a building by the university president.

It was the first reported instance of a demonstration against the Emperor.

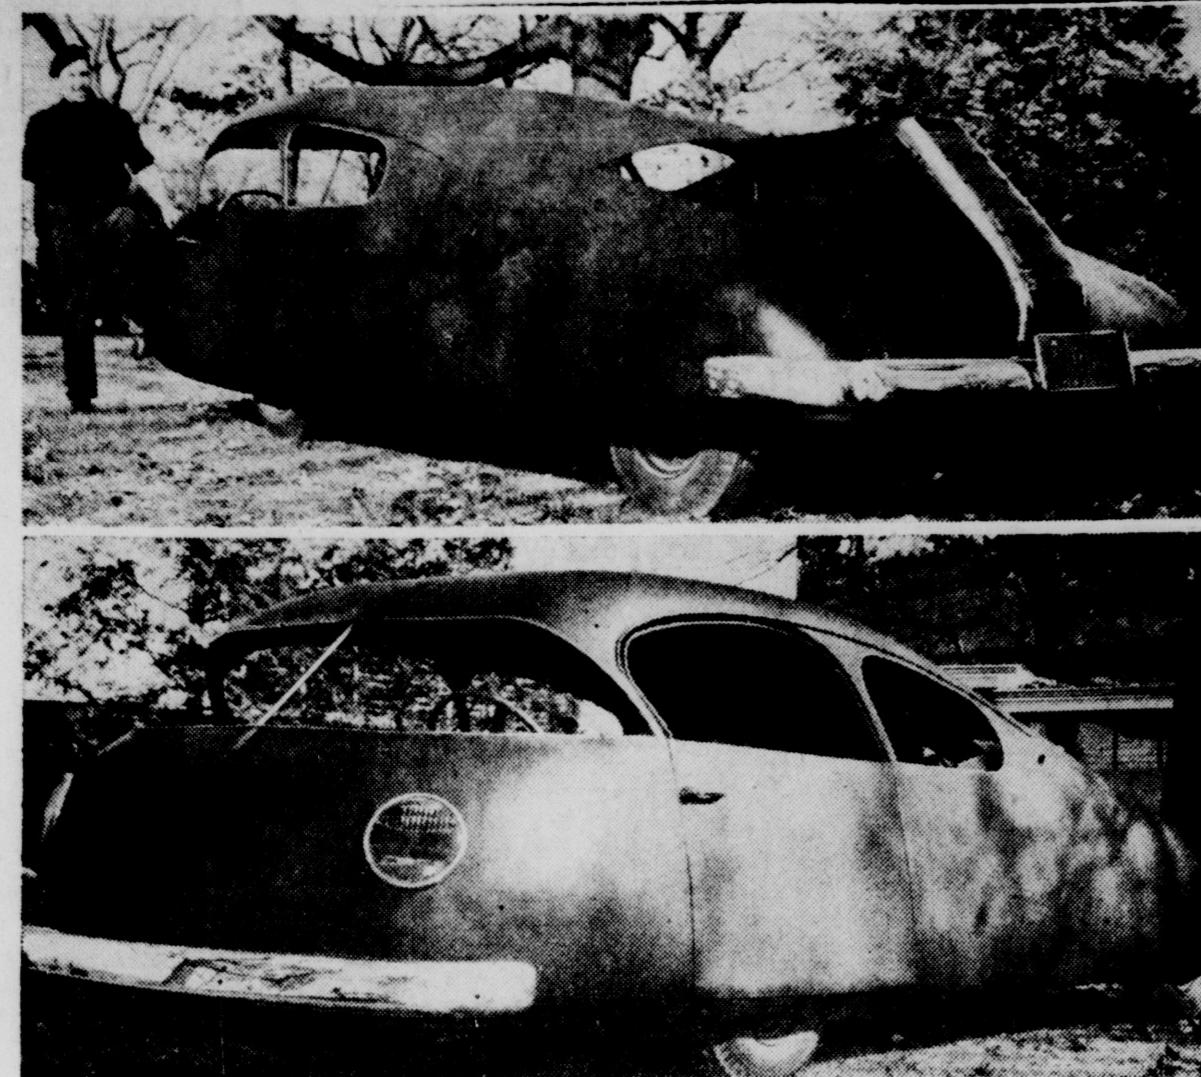

Good Luck Black Cat Strolls Into Paris Conference Of UN

PARIS—(P)—A big black cat—emblem of good luck in Europe—strode across the podium at the United Nations general assembly today while British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was speaking.

The cat climbed the red carpet to the desk where Secretary General Trygve Lie was sitting.

As Eden said, "that is the real road to peace," the cat, with a bored yawn, walked out into the wings.

The life span of bees ranges from three weeks to eight months.

STREAMLINED — Ronald Gougeon, of Bay City, built this radically designed car at home in his spare time during the past nine years. The designer is shown above with the vehicle which requires only a few finishing touches before it will be ready for road use. The streamlined automobile has an overall length of 205 inches and a height of 58 inches. Its motor is stalled in the rear about a foot forward of the rear axle.

Hunger Driving World To War, Economist Says

ROME—(P)—Director General Norris E. Dodd of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) declared today that steadily increasing hunger is driving the world toward revolution and war.

In a grimly-worded report to today's opening session of FAO's 18-nation guiding council, he declared world food production has increased only 9 per cent since World War Two; the world's population has climbed 12 per cent. Before the war there was enough food to give every man, woman and child 2,380 calories; now there is enough for only 2,260.

"If the tide of hunger continues to rise," Dodd said "there will inevitably be also a rising tide of unrest and revolution and war."

The council will map the organization's program for the next two years to put more food on the world's tables. That program then will be submitted for detailed action to representatives of the 66 nations linked in FAO.

Bolt Takes Top Money In Open Golf Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C. — (P)—Tommy Bolt, the Texan who plays golf out of Durham, S. C., has "created some thunder," as Cary Middlecoff put it, and finally crashed into the big winner's circle of professional golf.

The 33-year-old Bolt, in his sixth year as a professional, has a $1,500 check in his pocket today to go along with the walking air feeling after coming in with a three-under par 69 to win the $7,500 North and South open by three strokes yesterday.

Bolt's 263 on rounds of 71-72-69 was five under-par for 72 holes around the 7,001-yard No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country club.

Tommy, who's been on the tourney trail much of the past two years, has threatened before, but something always happened somewhere along the line to keep him from winning a big one.

John Barnum, the giant Grand Rapids pro who holds the Michigan open title, was as much a surprise as Bolt in charging up to take second place and $1,000 with his 71-73-72-70 for 286. Barnum had to shoot a 75 Tuesday to qualify for the tournament as his record wasn't gaudy enough to earn him an invitation.

The Roats, headed for Toledo, had just started a trip to Florida

Military Rites For Sgt. Miller

Military rites were conducted for Sgt. Donald N. Miller, Powers Korean war casualty, at services held Saturday morning at St. Francis Xavier church in Spalding with Rev. Fr. Karol officiating.

Pallbearers, classmates of Sgt. Miller, were Ernest Mikus, Julius Mikus, Clarence Poupora, Dwight Sargent, Wayne Miller and Lewey Pirlot.

Crew of 3,500

The Forrestal will be a 59,900-ton ship, 1,040 feet long, with a flight deck as wide as 252 feet at one point. A multiple system of catapults will allow simultaneous launching of four planes—a feature vitally needed when sudden action is demanded. She will have aboard more men than any fighting ship in the world—3,500. This compares with about 2,700 for the 45,000-ton Midway class carrier.

Because the Forrestal will have a flight deck unobstructed by the conventional island, she will be able to launch and land bombers of range far greater than those now used in regular carrier operations.

Princess And Duke Wind Up 5-Week Tour Across North America

ST. JOHN'S Nfld.—(P)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh said farewell today to North America, taking home what Britain's future queen described as "new strength and inspiration."

Born in 1868 in Stillwater, Minn., he had been employed by the Bay de Noe Lumber company until his retirement six years ago. He leaves a sister, Mrs. Mary Payton, Sault Ste. Marie, and a brother, Tim Curran, Escanaba.

Friends may call at the Delta funeral home Tuesday afternoon at 3. The Rosary will be recited Tuesday evening at 8:30.

Services will be held at 9 Wednesday morning at St. Patrick's church with the Very Rev. Martin B. Melican officiating. Interment will be in Holy Cross cemetery.

In a letter to Senator Jenner (R-Ind.) a week ago, Tydings offered $5,000 to him or McCarthy or anyone else to go before a grand jury and get indictments. Yesterday he doubted the offer in a "Dear Joe" letter to McCarthy.

Tydings said the offer will stand until next Feb. 9, "which will mark two full years since you made your charges." He told McCarthy "that will give you ample time to make good."

Jenner, to whom the offer was made first, had sided with McCarthy in contending that Tydings mishandled a 1950 investigation of the McCarthy charges.

Wife Of White House Aide To Leave RFC

WASHINGTON — (P)—W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, said last night that Mrs. Alva Dawson, wife of White House aide Donald Dawson, is leaving the agency "of her own volition" next month.

Bolt's 263 on rounds of 71-72-69 was five under-par for 72 holes around the 7,001-yard No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country club.
